

box cars and one-eyed jacks

Hello from Box Cars! Happy midweek. Here we are again with another installment of Math at Home. We've been overwhelmed by the response to this series of emails! Thank you to all the teachers reaching out to us. We will be continuing to send games out at a steady pace through April. If there are any topics or grade levels that you would like to see us feature, please let us know.

For this week, we are spotlighting our classic Face Off style games, as well as two of our favorite fraction activities. Note that some of these games use dominoes: you can find them on our website HERE. However, as you will see, you can often substitute playing cards or dice in lieu of dominoes.

Click on the links below for the videos.

Face Off ("War")
